

ROSS YOUNG, OF GIANTS, LOOKS TO BE THE BEST RIGHT FIELDER OF LOT

By FREDERICK G. LIEB.

There is a lot of batting power among the right fielders of the four leading contenders. The old theory of baseball used to be to place a slugger in right field, even if he could do nothing else. Baseball still has its hard-hitting right fielders, but more is demanded of right fielders today than mere batting skill.

For all around worth, Ross Young, the speedy Texan playing right field for McGraw's Giants, must be placed at the top of the right fielders considered in connection with the world's series.

Young can't slug as well as either Bob Meusel, of the Yankees, or Elmer Smith, of the Indians, but he is a far better fielder than his Yankee rival. Though bothered by quite a spell with a maimed ankle, which interfered with his natural speed, Young has sparkled in right field and on the bases for the Giants all season. The writer considers "Pop" the leader of McGraw's outfielders.

Though not a slugger like Meusel, Young is banging away for a .333 batting average, his extra base bags up to Labor Day including twenty-one doubles, fifteen triples and three home runs. His one weakness is against left-handed pitchers.

He's an Odd Type.

Bob Meusel, Yankee outfielder, is an odd type of athlete. Bob seldom steers a middle course; he is either very good in one line or very poor in another. From a fielding standpoint, Meusel last year was one of the poorest fielding outfielders in either league. This season he has improved considerably in judging fly balls, but he still lacks considerable of being a finished outfield performer.

But Meusel can hit as few men ball which Elmer lost in Cleveland last fall with the bases full.

The Cleveland right fielder is hitting .306, and ranks next to Meusel in slugging with 27 doubles, 8 triples and 15 home runs. Smith also is a splendid outfielder, with a grand throwing whip. He batted .308 against the Dodgers last season, but was at bat only thirteen times, as Robinson used his left handers Smith, Marquard and Mitchell quite consistently in his losing battle against the Indians.

He Has Played Well.

Robertson has played well with Pittsburgh since the mid-season deal, which sent him from the Cubs to the Bucs for pitcher Ponder. He is slapping the ball for a batting figure of .330, out-hitting Whitted by nearly fifty points. In the 1917 Giants-White Sox world series, Robertson hung up the remarkable batting percentage of .500, getting eleven hits in twenty-two batting tries, but his fielding did not match his hitting. A bad outfield miff in the last game was especially disastrous to New York.

Elmer Smith's home run exploits late in the season have won him almost as much notice in the public prints as Babe Ruth.

Elmer has a penchant for driving balls over right field fences. Burleigh Grimes probably never will forget one

ELKS PLAYERS MAKE STAND IN TITLE BATTLES

Navy Yard Players Taken on in What is Expected to Be "Crucial" Contest.

The fifth and what is expected to be the "crucial" game of the District Baseball Association championship series is being staged today at Union League Park.

The famous Elks Club, winners of more than thirty battles this year, and the Navy Yard, are mixing it up. The Elks have defeated Southern and the Navy Yard. A win for the antlered tribe today will practically clinch the pennant.

It is expected that Lem Owen will pitch for the Elks and Frye for the Navy Yard nine. Tomorrow the Elks and Southern are listed, but a win today for the Elks will make tomorrow's game unnecessary.

Southern made a game stand against Navy Yard yesterday but failed to come through. Walter Hughes pitched for the Southern lads. Bunched hits in the seventh allowed three markers to cross for the Navy Yard.

Southern led until the seventh. The pitching of Driver, of Navy Yard, was consistently good as he allowed but six hits, fanned ten and walked but one.

DISTRICT'S NET TITLE MATCHES ABOUT TO OPEN

Dumbarton Club Acts as Host to Recreators in Thirty-third Annual Tournament.

The thirty-third annual District of Columbia tennis championship matches in singles will get under way tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock on the courts of the historic Dumbarton Tennis Club in Georgetown.

Entries for the tournament are to be held open until midnight tonight and the pairing will be announced immediately thereafter.

Tomorrow the play will be confined to singles which will be run off on Sunday also if the players drawn care to participate. It is expected that the two days of play will put the tournament well along in the third round by Monday afternoon.

Play in men's doubles, women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles will be continued throughout the next week. Entries close tonight with Col. Wait Johnson, Douglas Hillyer or Capt. A. J. Gore, Dumbarton Club.

CHARLEY O'HEARN LIKELY STAR QUARTER FOR YALE

Keep your eye on Charley O'Hearn, who is out for quarterback at Yale. It is noted that there already is talk of O'Hearn's being shifted to some other place, in the backfield, but it is not believed that any such move will be made. O'Hearn is a smart football player—an ideal quarterback with what is known as the quarterback mind. He is versatile, quick, resourceful. O'Hearn showed that last season as quarter on the freshman eleven.

Charley is a brother of the O'Hearn, who in 1914, was All-America end at Cornell. The Yale man prepped at Exeter, where in 1919 he was far and away the leading figure on an eleven which lost to Andover—the first Andover victory over its great rival in seven years.

Spartans to Meet.

Spartan A. C. members hold a meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight at 709 E street southwest to talk football plans.

Worsted Suitings & Fall and Winter Overcoatings

Made To Measure
At This Low Price

$32.50

Absolute Savings of Many Dollars!

THE plain facts in the case are these: We cannot build suits of our known standard to sell at so low a price, for there is very little profit for us. But, if we can build enough of them to make the large volume, the combined small profits will take care of overhead expenses. And that is all we desire in this sale!

We cannot wait for business to open up—and therefore make this tremendous sacrifice on our splendid stocks of finest and newest woollens to create intense business activity. Realize that every word in this advertisement is a truthful statement. Realize that we do not stoop to catch price advertising or juggle prices to "draw" men into our store. We are out to do business—and present this extraordinary opportunity for all men to make wonderful savings on their new fall suits and overcoats.

The Suitings
Everything in worsteds you would regularly expect to sell at much higher prices in this sale. Pencil stripes, the new Scotch plaids in greens, browns and blues, herringbone, worsted mixtures, chalk lines—in fact, so great a variety of patterns and colorings it would be impossible to number them all.

The Overcoatings
The finest Overcoatings—all wool in every thread. The overcoatings that guarantee warmth without being too heavy. All in new color combinations oxfords, greys, as well as blues and black kerseys. Many plaid back effects, too, and the fashionable tweeds. Ready made overcoats have to cost more than this special price.
